Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Biostatistics

Position

Title
Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Biostatistics

School
Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

Department/Area
Epidemiology

Position Description
The Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health is seeking candidates with PhD in Statistics/Biostatistics for a postdoctoral position. Position involves the development of methodology in the areas of survival and longitudinal data analyses. The application of the methods will be in epidemiological researches including environmental epidemiology, cancer epidemiology etc. The successful candidate will work with Profs. Molin Wang, Donna Spiegelmen, Bernard Rosner, and their collaborators.

Basic Qualifications
Doctoral degree in Statistics, Biostatistics, or a related field; background/expertise in methods for survival data, clustered data, measurement error and causal inference is desired; strong computing is desired, along with excellent communication and writing skills.

Additional Qualifications

Special Instructions

Contact Information
Dr. Molin Wang
mwang@hsph.harvard.edu
Contact Email

mwang@hsph.harvard.edu

Equal Opportunity Employer

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

Minimum Number of References Required

2

Maximum Number of References Allowed

5

Supplemental Questions

Required fields are indicated with an asterisk (*).

Applicant Documents

Required Documents

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Publication

Optional Documents