The Department of Statistics (https://stat.indiana.edu/) at Indiana University Bloomington invites applications for the non-tenure-track position of Lecturer and Director of Business Statistics to begin in Fall, 2022. We seek an individual with expertise at teaching introductory level statistics to non-majors who can also contribute to our Masters degree courses and courses for Data Science students. We expect successful candidates to have a PhD in Statistics or a related field or to be ABD with the expectation that a PhD will be obtained within a year of starting the position.

Applicants should apply online at http://indiana.peaopleadmin.com/postings/12725. Please include a cover letter; CV; teaching statement describing the applicant's approaches to student success; a statement on fostering diversity, equity, and inclusion in and out of the classroom; and contact information for three references who can attest to the candidate's teaching skills. The Department of Statistics Diversity and Inclusion Statement can be found at: https://stat.indiana.edu/about/diversity.html

H1B sponsorship is not available for this position. Review of applications will begin April 15. The search will remain open until the position is filled.

Please address questions and correspondence to: Kelly Hanna, Department of Statistics, Myles Brand Hall E104, 901 E 10th St, Bloomington, IN 47408, USA, khanna@indiana.edu, 812-855-7828.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars. Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment based on individual qualifications. Indiana University prohibits discrimination based on age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.