Lecturer Faculty position at Rice University

Rice University’s Department of Statistics is dedicated to the advancement of the scientific discipline of statistics, the innovative application of statistical science to meet modern scientific, engineering and societal challenges, the expert education of students in statistics and other disciplines, and leadership in the statistical sciences broadly construed, at the local, national and international levels.

The Department of Statistics seeks applicants to fill one full-time lecturer position. Duties include teaching both undergraduate level and masters level statistics courses, including mathematical statistics. The teaching load is 2-3 courses per semester and some service to the Department should be expected. Salary commensurate with experience. The appointment is for 1-2 years with the possibility of renewal.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. degree in Statistics, Applied Mathematics, Computer Science or a related field. A strong background in R is required. The Ph.D. degree should be deferred by December 31, 2022.

Application Instructions
Applicants are to submit the following materials: (1) cover letter; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) statement of teaching philosophy; (4) sample syllabus; (5) recent teaching evaluations; (6) DEI statement describing their past and planned diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts; (7) names and contact information for at least three (3) references. Apply to https://apply.interfolio.com/115285. Applications will be reviewed beginning November 1, 2022. Start date is as early as January 1, 2023.

About Rice University
The George R. Brown School of Engineering ranks among the top 20 of undergraduate engineering programs (US News & World Report) and is strongly committed to nurturing the aspirations of faculty, staff and students in an inclusive environment.

We seek greater representation of women, minorities, people with disabilities, and veterans in disciplines in which they have historically been underrepresented; to attract international students from a wider range of countries and backgrounds; to accelerate progress in building a faculty and staff who are diverse in background and thought; and we support an inclusive environment that fosters interaction and understanding within our diverse community.

Rice University is an Equal Opportunity Employer with commitment to diversity at all levels and considers for employment qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.