Baylor University seeks to fill a clinical assistant professor position in the Department of Statistical Science within the College of Arts and Sciences to start in the Summer of 2023. The successful applicant will join a dynamic faculty in advancing our core mission to provide quality statistics instruction at all levels but primarily course delivery for a new MS in Business Analytics. Courses include statistical methods using R, regression, and time series/forecasting. The successful candidate will also work with industry partners developing and overseeing capstone projects. The position includes a competitive salary and outstanding benefits (https://www.baylor.edu/hr/index.php?id=949183). To ensure full consideration, complete applications must be submitted by January 16, 2023. Details for this position can be found at apply.interfolio.com/113981.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of around 21,000 diverse students from all 50 states and more than 85 countries, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having just been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education, gives faculty and staff the chance to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

The position is open to all qualified applicants with an advanced degree in statistics, business analytics, or a related discipline. Candidates with industry experience are particularly encouraged to apply. Although a doctoral degree is preferred, candidates with a masters in these fields who also have significant industry work experience are encouraged to apply.

Please submit the following materials electronically via Interfolio: (a) letter of application (cover letter), (b) statement of teaching interests, (c) current curriculum vitae (d) copy of the official transcript from highest-degree granting institution (if the doctorate is in progress, a copy of the official transcript of completed doctoral hours should be submitted), (e) contact information for three individuals who will provide letters of recommendation through Interfolio by the due date. (f) faith statement/response to Baylor's Christian mission.

Questions concerning the position should be directed to James Stamey, Search Committee Chair, at james_stamey@baylor.edu.

Baylor University is a private not-for-profit university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. As an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer, Baylor is committed to compliance with all applicable anti-discrimination laws, including those regarding age, race, color, sex, national origin, pregnancy status, military service, genetic information, and disability. As a religious educational institution, Baylor is lawfully permitted to consider an applicant’s religion as a selection criterion. Baylor encourages women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities to apply. Baylor University is committed to making information and resources that are available via the web accessible for all users. If you are a job seeker and need accessibility assistance or an accommodation in order to apply for one of our open positions, please call 254-710-2000 or e-mail: askHR@baylor.edu.