The Department of Mathematics and Statistics at Washington University in St. Louis has one opening for an Open-Rank Faculty position, to begin Fall 2023, with emphasis on Statistics and Data Science, and related areas. The appointment can be at the Assistant, Associate, or Full-level with a rank commensurate with experience and qualifications. A Ph.D. in Statistics, Mathematics, or a closely related field is required. Duties will include teaching three one-semester courses per year, conducting and maintaining a strong research program, writing for publication, advising students, and participating in department governance and university service. Competitive applicants at the Assistant Professor level will have demonstrated potential for research in Statistics and Data Science. Applicants at the Associate and full Professor levels will have a distinguished research, teaching, service, and publication record commensurate with tenure at that rank. Diversity and inclusion are core values at Washington University, and we seek to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive.

Application materials should include a CV, list of publications, research statement, teaching statement, and four letters of recommendation with one addressing teaching credentials. Applicants are recommended to include copies of past teaching evaluations along with their teaching statements. Applicants and reference letter writers are encouraged to submit this material using the AMS Math-Jobs website (www.mathjobs.org/jobs/list/21647); however, it may be sent directly to John Shareshian, Chair of the Department of Mathematics and Statistics, at jshareshian@wustl.edu. Requests for further information should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee, at search chair- ds@email.wustl.edu. The Search Committee will begin reviewing applications around December 15, 2022, and will continue to accept applications until the search is closed.

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.
